Individualized care for individual needs.

Disposable Incontinence Products

Challenges of Incontinence

- » Incontinence presents a significant financial burden to the individual and to society. The U.S. cost of bladder incontinence among adults was estimated at $16.3 billion<sup>1</sup>
- » 50-75% of the costs are attributed to resources use for incontinence management or "routine care" such as absorbent pads, protection and laundry<sup>2</sup>
- » The annual cost of managing urinary incontinence in long-term care facilities is $5.3 billion<sup>3</sup>

Continence care is everyone's business.

 78%

The prevalence of bowel and urinary incontinence among nursing home residents.<sup>4</sup>

 80%

The percentage of ambulatory elders who suffer from Nocturia. This symptom can predispose these individuals to falls as they maneuver to the bathroom.<sup>5</sup>

 43%

Nursing home residents that have some form of IAD.<sup>4</sup>

 37.5%

Once IAD occurs, there is a high risk for pressure ulcer development. In fact, residents are at 37.5% greater risk of developing pressure ulcers.<sup>4</sup>

Research has found an association between incontinence and declining mental health.<sup>8</sup>

Urinary incontinence is associated with poor self-rated health and decreased quality of life.<sup>6,7</sup>

 75.5%

The percentage of CNA turnover in a facility.<sup>9</sup>

 $2,500

The industry average cost to replace one CNA.<sup>10</sup>

The cost-effectiveness of care is critical in today's healthcare environment. As the healthcare dollar continues to shrink, the demand for care interventions that produce the very best outcomes for the least cost continues to escalate. In order to meet the future needs of residents with incontinence, you must:

- » Provide evidence-based care
- » Document your outcomes and costs
- » Collaborate with legislators, regulators and other professionals to assure appropriate coverage for care

Drypads & Underpads

Drypads

As a caregiver, you encounter many different skin conditions. Among the most common are those caused by prolonged exposure to moisture: incontinence-associated dermatitis, intertriginous dermatitis or periwound moisture-associated dermatitis. Moisture-associated skin damage (MASD) negatively impacts the physical health of your patients and the financial health of your facility.

MASD encompasses distinct skin conditions caused by excessive and continued exposure to moisture; wound exudate, urinary and/or fecal incontinence or perspiration.<sup>1</sup> Identifying the cause of skin damage helps ensure appropriate management and prevention interventions.

Recommended for:

- » Facilities who practice open to air or brief-less incontinence management
- » Patients on a low air loss, alternating therapy bed or other specialty support surface
- » Non-ambulatory and incontinent patients where moisture management and skin breakdown is a concern
- » Caregivers who want an all in one solution for moisture management and patient turns, boosts and repositions

Ultra-soft, breathable topsheet for increased patient and resident comfort

Fold-over edges* for added protection against leaks

High-strength backsheet provides exceptional resistance to tearing**

Advanced super-absorbent core lies flat when wet without bunching, swelling or disintegrating

MASD Solutions

Every day you're challenged with protecting fragile skin from excessive moisture, especially for patients who due to their condition are more at risk for skin breakdown than others. Damaging effects of moisture against the skin include:

- » Compromised acid mantle from higher skin surface pH<sup>1, 2</sup>
- » Distributed microclimate due to elevated heat and humidity<sup>2</sup>
- » Abraded skin caused by greater friction and sheer strain<sup>1</sup>

Successfully preventing moisture-associated skin damage for most at-risk patients requires an effective method of promoting optimal skin conditions.<sup>1</sup> Therasorbs and Ultrasorbs Dry Sheets are two breakthrough innovations in skin care designed to reduce the risk factors of MASD for most at-risk patients.

Therasorbs

- » Helps reduce the risk factors of moisture associated skin damage (MASD) for the most at-risk patients
- » Provides excellent wicking, core utilization and overall dryness with innovative core made with super absorbent polymers (SAP) that allow fluid to pass through individual SAP particles
- » Ultra-soft, breathable top sheet helps maintain skin's natural microclimate by allowing air to circulate, lowering heat and humidity
- » Air-permeable poly ensures air flow to patient's skin; suitable for low-air loss mattresses
- » Extra strong backsheet built for adherence to Q2 turning, boosting and repositioning protocol and supports patients up to 375 lb.

Item No.	Description	Pkg.
MDP933036	31 x 36" (79 x 91 cm)	10/bg, 40/cs

Ultrasorbs Dry Sheets

- » Designed to absorb moisture and help keep skinfolds dry
- » Soft outer fabric layer on both sides wicks away fluid from the skin and locks it into the double thick superabsorbent polymer core
- » Change once a day or when sheet becomes wet
- » Each sheet measures 6 x 14" and should not be cut
- » One sheet holds 8 oz. of liquid

Skin Care

Skin Care

The Medline Remedy® Phytoplex® line combines the most advanced skincare science with some of the gentlest, most beneficial botanicals nature provides. The result is a complete regiment of skincare specifically formulated for use on sensitive skin.

Recommended uses:

- » Manage at-risk skin so that redness, dry skin and stress do not disrupt the normal barrier function of the skin surface
- » Formulated to help mitigate these negative effects and help maintain conditions needed for normal, healthy skin function

What is in Phytoplex?

A proprietary blend of beneficial botanicals at the heart of each formulation

Hydrolyzed soy protein<sup>1</sup>, yeast extract<sup>2</sup> and vitamin D<sup>3</sup>

These are all humectants derived from nature to moisturize skin<sup>4</sup>

Blue-green algae extract

Soothes and refreshes with vital nutrients including proteins, vitamins and antioxidants<sup>5</sup>

Green tea and clove flower extract

These two ingredients are naturally high in antioxidants to soothe and comfort skin

What is NOT in Phytoplex

Parabens

Studies have shown evidence of parabens as endocrine inhibitors. However, there is considerable debate over its safe use. Some clinicians prefer other preservative methods<sup>6</sup>

Sulfates

This commonly used cleansing agent has the potential to dry skin out and cause irritation. It is typically found in sudsing products<sup>7</sup>

Aloe

Although it is widely used as an emolient, aloe may cause allergic reactions in some patients<sup>5</sup>

Phthalates

Several studies link phthalates with negative health side effects<sup>8</sup>

Patient Repositioning

Comfort Glide

Safe patient handling is equally as important to patients. Bed-ridden patients are at risk for pressure injuries, which can develop in as little as one hour.<sup>1</sup> Frequent repositioning using transfer aids to reduce friction and shear is recommended to help prevent the development of pressure injuries.<sup>2</sup>

Retail: having the right plan.

As cash sales become more critical to HME's, having the right approach to retail is critical. Presenting incontinence products on shelving that is both easy to shop and has the right assortment can dramatically increase in-store conversion and increase cash sales.

Said differently, a good planogram of products helps them sell faster. Ease of shopping is especially important when shoppers just want to browse or when staff are unavailable because they are helping other customers. An essential tool trusted by big box retailers, it can take some of the guesswork out of the dealer's responsibility on what sells well. Retail friendly bags and shelf placement suggestions also help your customers find the products they need.

Must Stock Items

These are the 'Must Stock' lines which customers expect to see in an incontinence set. By stocking these lines, you will be meeting your customers' needs and therefore they will visit your store again.

- » Briefs
- » Light bladder leakage pads
- » Underwear
- » Underpads
- » Gloves
- » Barrier lotions
- » Wet wipes

We suggest you also stock these additional items to fill out the assortment and help make your store look its best:

- » Male guards
- » Knit pants
- » Liners
